

GOV. HENDERSON APPOINTS NEW HOUSTON HIGHWAY COMMISSION

New Appointees Received Their Commissions from the Governor Yesterday—All Are Favorable to Good Roads and Work Will be Carried Ahead as Formerly.

Faireloth Only Man Retained of Old Board

Governor Henderson has appointed a new board of highway commissioners for Houston county, succeeding the old board, which has held for four years.

The members of the new board are: J. R. Young, president; John Sanders, treasurer; J. R. Faireloth, secretary; E. R. Porter and J. E. McNair, of Columbia.

The members of the old Highway Commission were, G. H. Malone, J. E. Barnes, J. R. Faireloth, H. E. Wilson and L. W. Armstrong. The work of the old commission has been done largely by Malone, Faireloth and Barnes, and Messrs. Armstrong and Wilson have met with the body but few times, realizing that there was really no need for more than three members of the board.

Mr. Faireloth, who was a member of the old board, is reappointed, but none of the other old members are retained.

During the past four years the highway commission has built about seventy-five miles of road, most of which is counted to be among the best roads in Alabama, and at a comparatively small cost.

The commission has a crew at work on a road running south of town, to the Florida line. It is not known if the new commission will make any changes as to which roads will be built next.

There is much demand to build a road that will reach Webb, and that community, and for the extension of the Cottonwood road, and then another road that goes to Lucy in the southeast corner of the county, and then the community in the west end of the county about Wicksburg, should have the road extended out to that section. In fact, the road work in the county has just fairly begun. Roads are needed in many sections, but they can only be built by degrees, for there has been but little funds from which to build roads, and at this time, there are not so many convicts as formerly to be worked on the roads.

All the members of the new commission are men of affairs, and they are interested in good roads work, and it is thought that they will carry forward the work in a satisfactory manner. All know that no road building commission can possibly please all, but they can, and do, use their good judgment in building roads into the communities where population is thickest, first, and then to the more thinly populated districts. In time, every section of the county will have good roads.

MAD DOG BITES MAN AND FOUR CHILDREN

Mr. Berry Fuller, who lives just beyond the Locust Grove Dairy on the Headland road, was bitten by his dog Saturday night. Mr. Fuller said the dog was lying in a basket of corn and when he put his hand in the basket to take out some of the corn the dog snapped him on the hand. He thought at the time the dog was startled and snapped him before he knew who it was, and did not suspect that the dog was mad until Sunday morning when he ran wild and bit three of Mr. Fuller's children and a child of J. P. Snellgrove.

The dog was killed and the head sent to Montgomery to determine if the animal had rabies.

Will Make Substantive Study of Permanent Barracks Problem

Panama, April 5.—Major General Leonard Wood, commander of the department of the East, arrived in Panama yesterday. Today he will begin the inspection of the Pacific fortifications of the canal. He has already inspected those on the Atlantic.

Concerning the disturbance between American soldiers and the police and populace of Colon Friday when one American soldier was killed, General Wood said last night:

"While the investigation into the affair has not been completed evidence obtained thus far clearly indicates that the shooting of a soldier by the Panama policeman was unprovoked."

"I have cabled the secretary of war at Washington to this effect, but have not made any recommendations regarding the future action to be taken by the military authorities on the isthmus. The soldiers, on patrol did their best to prevent the trouble and also to restrain the soldiers after the trouble began."

General Wood plans to be in Panama, to make an exhaustive study into the permanent barracks problem. He will inspect also on the east side of the canal.

CANCER IN THE FAMILY

Perhaps nothing causes more needless worry than the fact that one or more persons in a given family have died from cancer. This is commonly taken as proof that the disease is hereditary. This does not at all follow. There is probably no greater chance of inheriting cancer than there is of being killed by lightning or of breaking one's neck falling down stairs. Perhaps there are people who worry even about those contingencies, but the statisticians have shown that such fatal accidents are extremely rare. People who are concerned because their relatives have succumbed to cancer fail to consider how wide spread the disease is. A malady that causes one death out of every eight among women and one out of every fourteen among men over forty is fairly common. On this basis it does not take much arithmetic to figure out how likely it is that cancer will occur many times in some families. The eminent statisticians, King and Newholme, have pointed out that it does not prove heredity to show that in one family five deaths occurred from cancer. By the very frequency of the disease, and the law of chance, such cases would be expected even if no one had ever suggested the idea of heredity. It can be mathematically demonstrated that if a sufficient number of people start to toss coins it is a certainty that at least one of them will toss 1,000 consecutive "heads." So with cancer; given a sufficient number of families it is certain that many members of some few families will die of this disease. Therefore it is not necessary to assume that the disease is inherited to account for its frequency. Sometimes this fallacy crops out when certain notable cases, such as that of the Bonaparte family, are cited. It should be remembered that the rarity of such cases of apparent heredity tends to prove the very opposite. Such cases are so noticeable that they are remembered. If the cancer tendency should disappear in such a family no further attention would be paid to the supposed danger. If such family histories resulted from actually inheriting the disease, rather than from chance, they would be far more commonly reported. It is possible that certain forms of malignant disease may, under rare conditions, be transmitted to the child. Cancer is a very large word, covering a number of widely different diseases. It may be, also, that under highly artificial conditions of inbreeding mice a certain susceptibility to tumors may be inherited. Nevertheless, as applied to human beings and in the practical view, the foremost authorities believe that heredity in cancer may be regarded as a negligible factor.—American Medical Association.

LUKE M'LUKE SAYS

From the Cincinnati Inquirer.

A woman will put in ten years missing out an onery 30-cent husband. But the day a trolley car or automobile hits him and kills him she discovers that he was a paragon of virtue and values him at $30,000.

Nobody loves a fat man. But at that he is as popular as a skinny woman.

The girls must be expecting a hot summer. The lingerie advertisements predict combinations that are cut exactly like a man's one-piece bathing suit, only the combinations are made out of invisible goods.

When daughter has company for dinner she tries to impress the company with her refinement by saying "crown" and "shawl", but father keeps right on giving a sword-swallowing exhibition with his knife, and winds up by drinking his coffee out of his saucer, just as if there was no such animal as refinement.

No man objects to his being chased by a woman unless she happens to be his wife.

An orator can speak for four hours and imagine that he has said a lot. But an angry woman can say more than that with one glance of her eyes.

It is none of my business. But it must make a man swell up with pleasure when he sees his wife kissing a pet dog.

HOW RAILROAD CARS ARE CLEANED

In a report dealing with the migration of tuberculosis persons in interstate traffic recently issued by the United States Public Health Service, the manner of cleaning and disinfecting Pullman cars, day coaches, mail and baggage cars, at Asheville, N. C., is described.

When we consider the number of persons who travel to and from health resorts the necessity of thorough cleaning of railroad cars becomes evident. Not only is formaldehyde used as a disinfectant, but soap and hot water are liberally used as a means of mechanical cleansing. Dust is removed from the carpets, upholstered seats and interior of the cars by means of compressed air which has been found to be the most efficient means for this purpose.

Mrs. Sowers' Own Statement.

Hodgdon, Maine.—"I feel it a duty to owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired morning that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. Hayward Sowers, Hodgdon, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidentially) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

HOW FATIGUE WILL POISON

In the April American Magazine Ida M. Tarbell writes an article in her new business series entitled, "The Golden Rule in Business." This month's article takes up the length of the working day. Many interesting points and stories are brought out showing the baneful effects of too long a working day. On the subject of how fatigue wears out the human body Miss Tarbell writes in part as follows:

"Men and women come in the morning to their tasks with a spring of fresh energy within them. Little by little during the hours of labor they empty that spring. When it is dry they must draw from forces which should be untouched. By some strange chemistry which no one understands too well these intrusions on the physical forces which should be inviolate produce in the human system a true toxic condition—fatigue poison, auto-poison the scientists call it.

"If this fatigue poison passes a point where the period of rest following is not equal to the task of throwing it off and filling the spring of energy afresh, the man goes back to his toil a little unfit; the longer he goes on the more unfit he becomes. Slowly the poison invades his system. The repairing forces—food, relaxation, pleasures, and sleep—become less and less equal to the task. The man becomes more and more open to the attack of disease; less and less able to do his work; unfit to improve upon it; unable to grow. He is an unsafe man too, one not to be trusted among machines in dangerous places. The man has been poisoned into unfitness by the slow accumulation of fatigue poison which he could not throw off.

"It was not work which did this. It was too much work. He needed the work to keep him fit. Without it or its equivalent, a regular physical exercise, his spring of energy would have as surely deteriorated as it did from overwork. The spring of energy standing idle would have soured within him.

"It has taken years of observation and experiment to establish with anything like scientific accuracy the baneful effects on the laborer and his product of the too long day. This has been done finally with a completeness which even the courts are recognizing. Moreover in establishing these facts there have been discoveries made of the effects of the shorter day which have been as heartening as they have been surprising. They are discoveries which upset all the old theories about hours.

"Briefly put they amount to this: An eight-hour day in a well managed shop yields as large a quantity of work as a ten-hour day, and cuts out almost entirely certain irritations and interruptions which have always characterized the longer work period.

As for labor, it has become an axiom in its circle that 'shortening the day increases the pay.' There is many a manufacturer that will tell you that shortening the day increases the profits."

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER MACHINES

Features of International Harvester Engines

WEIGHT is a good thing in an engine, provided the weight is put in the right places. In the I H C engine the extra weight goes into the fly-wheels to store up power; into the cylinder walls, making it possible to reground the cylinders six or eight times; into the valves to prevent warpage, etc. These are the parts which weight counts. Study I H C fly-wheel split hubs. A split hub is no better than a solid hub until something occurs which requires the removal of a fly-wheel. Then the split hub is needed. This one feature, which costs practically nothing when you buy an I H C engine, may save you a heavy repair bill in the future. Come in and let us show you the other strong points of I H C engines. There are enough of them to keep you interested for a half day or more.

COMMON SENSE PEACE IS NEEDED, SAYS BERNSTEIN

London, April 5.—Edward Bernstein, a Socialist member of the Reichstag, who refused to vote for the budget, although he did not vote against it, has written The Leipzig Volks-Zeitung an explanation of his attitude. A Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph says that Herr Bernstein refused to approve the budget "because it is necessary that a voice be heard crying for a common sense peace."

"If Germany makes a beginning," Herr Bernstein wrote, "followers of the movement in other countries would soon be heard."

EASTER PASSES ON MEXICAN BORDER WITH LITTLE FIRING

Child Cavalryman Operated On

Promised Candy

Brownsville, Tex., April 4.—Easter Sunday passed with only occasional exchanges of rifle fire between the Villa forces investing Matamoros and the Carranza soldiers defending the town.

Five hundred Villa troops with one cannon were reported to have reached Reynosa, about 60 miles west of Matamoros today. An express car which some Carranza supporters said contained an aeroplane for use at Matamoros and others declared was loaded with ammunition, arrived here late today. It was not unloaded during the day.

There were special Easter services for the 180 Villa wounded in the Red Cross hospital here: first a Catholic mass and then Presbyterian services. H. C. Harrison, business manager for the Red Cross, discovered some Mexicans who after entering the hospital under the guise of friends of convalescents, had started a gambling game beside the beds and were winners of the soldiers' money. There was about $250 in

URING A LULL IN THE OPENING DAY CEREMONIES AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

The Panama-Pacific International exposition was opened by a wireless spark, dispatched by President Woodrow Wilson at Washington, and caught on the tendrils of a wireless aerial on the lofty Tower of Jewels at the exposition. Instantly the power was released in the mighty Palace of Machinery and the portals of the exhibit palace opened. The scene is on the grand stand after the ceremonies had ended. Secretary of the Interior, FRANKLIN K. LANE, Gov. Hiram Johnson of California, Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, President of the Board of the exposition and a notable group of visiting dignitaries being seen in animated discussion at the apical event. In the press box the correspondents are seen flashing to the world the news that the exposition had opened.

PROTECTION AGAINST

CLOTHES MOTHS

Preventatives Useful When the Eggs Are Present

Washington, D. C., April 5.—The various substances used to keep away moths, such as tobacco, camphor, naphthalene cones or balls, tinned paper, and cedar chips have no effect if the eggs are already present in the clothes and entomology specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture therefore recommend a thorough beating, shaking and brushing of all articles likely to attract moths, before they are laid away for the summer. The brushing of garments is especially important in order to remove eggs which may have hatched. If the articles are quite free from eggs or larvae when laid away, the odor from the various repellents, already mentioned or from cedar chests and wardrobes will serve to keep the moths away. This odor, however, lessens with age, so that the protection it affords is greatly decreased after a few years. For this reason when furs and other valuable garments are wrapped in tarred paper or placed in sacks of tarred paper, these containers should be renewed every year or two.

In general moths are likely to affect only articles which are put away and left undisturbed for some little time. Apartments and closets that are frequently aired and swept are not apt to be seriously affected. In fact airing and sunlight are probably the best as well as the oldest remedies. However, where circumstances demand that the articles be put away, a convenient and effective device is to place them in large paste-board boxes such as tailors use and gum a strip of wrapping paper around the edge so as to seal up the box completely and leave no cracks. If the garments have been thoroughly cleaned before being placed in these boxes, no additional protection is necessary and there is none of the objectionable odor which is characteristic of so many moth repellents.

For valuable articles the safest plan is to place them in cold storage. Recent experiments have shown that the larvae of the moth will resist for a long time low temperatures if these are uniform but that the alternation of low and high temperatures quickly result in death. It is recommended therefore that storage companies submit their goods to two or three changes, varying the temperature from about 18 degrees to 10 or 50 degrees, Fahrenheit. After this preliminary treatment,

IF BACKACHE OR

KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat Also Take a Glass of Soda Before Eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel chilly in the morning when the weather is bad.

But just meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
